

intro [D] x 2

[D] Dry your eyes, take your song out it's A [G] newborn afternoon
And if you can't recall the [D] singer you can still recall the [A] tune
Dry your [D] eyes and play it slowly like you're [G] marching off to war
Sing It like you know he'd [D] want it like we sang it once [A] before
And from the [D] centre of the circle to the [G] midst of the waiting crowd
If it ever be for [D] gotten sing it long sing it [A] loud
And come dry your [D] eyes

[key change]

[F] And you taught us more about giving than we [Bb] ever cared to know
But we came to find the [F] secret and we never let it [C] go
And it was [F] more than being holy oh it was [Bb] less than being free
And if you can't recall the [F] reason can you hear the people [C] sing
Right through the [F] lightning and the thunder
To the [Bb] dark side of the moon
To that distant falling [F] angel that descended much too [C] soon
Come dry your [F] eyes
Dry your eyes take your song out it's a [Bb] newborn afternoon
And if you can't recall the [F] singer you can still recall the [C] tune
Come dry your [F] eyes
[C] Come dry your [F] eyes
[C] Dry your [F] eyes
